EXPLANATORY NOTES

The main object of this bill is to harmonize the fiscal legislation in Québec with that of Canada. It consequently gives effect primarily to various harmonization measures announced in the Budget Speeches delivered by the Minister of State for the Economy and Finance on 25 March 1997 and 31 March 1998.

The bill also gives effect to various measures contained in Information Bulletin 95-4 issued by the Ministère des Finances on 5 July 1995.

The bill amends the Mining Duties Act in concordance with the amendments made to the Taxation Act to extend the rules relating to mining reclamation trusts to other similar environmental trusts.

The bill amends the Taxation Act primarily to make amendments similar to various amendments made to the Canada Income Tax Act by federal Bill C-28 (S.C., 1998, chapter 19), assented to on 18 June 1998. In particular, the amendments concern

(1) registered education savings plans, to increase taxpayers' interest in this type of investment vehicle used to finance post-secondary education, in particular by allowing subscribers under the plan to withdraw accumulated income in certain circumstances;

(2) the implementation of a special tax on accumulated income payments under a registered education savings plan;

(3) the rules applicable to the various deferred income plans, in particular as regards transfers from one plan to another;

(4) the tax treatment of benefits paid to a taxpayer under a disability insurance plan so that there will be no change in the tax treatment if the insurer becomes insolvent and the employer continues the benefits;

(5) an extension of the list of recognized medical expenses for the purposes of the non-refundable tax credit for medical expenses and the implementation of a refundable tax credit for medical expenses that is intended to partially compensate for the loss of special benefits to a beneficiary of income security who enters the labour market;

(6) the introduction for cemetery care trusts of rules similar to those applicable to trusts governed by eligible funeral arrangements ;

(7) an extension of the rules relating to mining reclamation trusts to other similar environmental trusts ;

(8) the consolidation, improvement and standardization of the rules allowing for deferral of losses arising from certain transfers of property which involve affiliated persons ;

(9) a tightening of certain rules devised to prevent abusive tax shelter promotion ;

(10) an extension of the minimum replacement tax base to partnership losses attributed to limited partners and to certain dormant partners as well as to tax shelter losses ;

(11) the rules relating to the methods of valuing inventory of a business ;

(12) the rules relating to the tax exemption enjoyed by certain government bodies in order to clarify the scope of its application ;

(13) certain rules of an administrative nature, in particular those relating to assessments, penalties, objections and appeals, to provide that the determination of certain amounts may be made at the partnership level ; and

(14) various technical amendments, including consequential and terminology-related amendments.

The bill amends the Act respecting the Ministère du Revenu to reflect the amendments made to the Taxation Act as regards certain rules concerning partnerships and to make other amendments similar to various amendments made to the Canada Income Tax Act by federal Bill C-28. In particular, the amendments concern

(1) the Minister's power to print out any book, register or other document kept on a storage medium other than paper and that has been examined or obtained by the Minister or of which the Minister has taken possession, including during an audit ;

(2) the creation of new offences for obtaining or attempting to obtain a refund or credit without being entitled to it or for conspiring to obtain such a refund or credit ; and

(3) recognition of the probative force of a print-out made of a document whose original storage medium is not paper or microfilm.

The bill also amends other legislation to reflect certain amendments made to the Taxation Act.

The presumption referred to in the first paragraph does not apply in the case of the disposition of such an interest or of such part of an interest in an inter vivos trust not resident in Canada that was purchased by the taxpayer, except if section 688 applies to the taxpayer.

Where a taxpayer other than a mutual fund trust disposes of all or any part of the capital interest in a trust, the taxpayer’s loss from the disposition is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount of that loss otherwise determined exceeds the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was received or would, but for section 666, have been received by the trust on a share of the capital stock of a corporation before the disposition, and, where the trust is a unit trust, after 31 December 1987, and

iii. where the taxpayer is not a corporation, trust or partnership, was an amount designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the taxpayer ; exceeds

(b) the portion of the aggregate determined in accordance with subparagraph a that may reasonably be considered to have resulted in a reduction, under this paragraph, of the taxpayer's loss otherwise determined from a previous disposition of an interest in the trust.

Where a partnership disposes of all or any part of the capital interest in a trust, the share of a person, other than another partnership or a mutual fund trust, of any loss of the partnership from the disposition is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount of that loss otherwise determined exceeds the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was received or would, but for section 666, have been received by the trust on a share of the capital stock of a corporation before the disposition, and, where the trust is a unit trust, after 31 December 1987, and

i. where the person is a corporation,

(1) was a taxable dividend that was designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of the partnership, to the extent that the amount of the dividend was deductible because of sections 738 to 745 or section 845 or 1091 in computing the person's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(2) was a dividend designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the partnership and was an amount received by the person,

ii. where the person is an individual other than a trust, was a dividend designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the partnership and was an amount received by the person, and

(b) the portion of the aggregate determined in accordance with subparagraph a that may reasonably be considered to have resulted in a reduction, under this paragraph, of the person's loss otherwise determined from a previous disposition of an interest in the trust.

“687. For the purposes of section 686 and notwithstanding paragraph a of section 422, the cost to a taxpayer of a capital interest in a trust, other than an interest acquired by the taxpayer from a person who was the beneficiary in respect of the interest immediately before its acquisition by the taxpayer or an interest issued to the taxpayer for consideration paid by the taxpayer that is equal to the fair market value of the interest at the time of issuance, is deemed to be

(a) where the taxpayer elects under section 726.9.2 in respect of the interest and the trust does not elect under that section in respect of any property of the trust, equal to the taxpayer's cost of the interest determined under subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2; and

(b) in any other case, nil.”
